

Tradition - Innovation - Fascination

Quality made in Germany Our more than 230 years of experience in the high art of the shoemaking craft and the traditional know-how, which has been developed and expanded from generation to generation, guarantee you the utmost in quality and the best workmanship in our shoes. The basic philosophy behind every Birkenstock generation is to use nature as our guide in order to promote and preserve the foot's natural role. Even today Birkenstock remains a family enterprise which maintains its tradition. But Birkenstock doesn't just stand for top-quality products which are carefully manufactured with an eye to the details and embody a good deal of handwork. Our enterprise has a large variety of additional positive features - which also ultimately contributes to the quality of our brand. For instance, our environmentally friendly manufacturing processes and the use of handpicked, premium quality material contribute to the preservation and protection of nature and the environment. And our highly committed, superbly motivated staff also ensure that our customers throughout the world are satisfied. With a total of ten production sites in the Federal Republic of Germany and constant innovation in our production processes, we also promote Germany as a site of business at the same time as we safeguard jobs at our production sites. That is why we are, and will remain, Birkenstock "made in Germany" - from the buckle to the sole.
